Brief Introduction

Thanks to the generous benefactor Mr. KWOK Chi-leung, our school, situated in the High Street, Sai Ying Pun, commenced providing 112 place of full-day child care and education service to children aged between 2 to 6 in April 1995. In order to cater to the needs of the neighbourhood, 10 places of half-day courses are opened to children aged between 2 to 3 every school year. Our school also offers occasional child care service, extended-hour child care service and integrated service. Our campus is equipped with a physical/musical activity room and 4 classrooms. To create an inspiring learning environment with a child-based approach, every classroom has various corners to suit different purposes: natural science, creative art, computer learning, reading, playing and learning.

Rationale

The curriculum intends to match the needs and interests of child development. With thematic net to assist curriculum organization, and theories of “creative learning” and “multiple intelligences” applied, we enable children to learn through games. We decorate classrooms with environmental stimulus and according to themes concerned, matching children’s experience and knowledge. We let children apply skills grasped in handling objects in daily life. We allow civic and moral education to permeate thematic teaching, project-based research, regular and parent-child activities, so that children can gradually pick up appropriate behaviour, hence enhancing ethical education.

We use the most communicative language between children (Cantonese) during learning activities, with the language pedagogy incorporated.

Children are divided into groups to learn Putonghua and to dance in the morning every week.

On every Friday, the Multi-activities Day is held. Foreign English teachers lead amusing English activities. Children may also participate in other physical and intellectual activities.

School Connection

With the social work service introduced into our schools, social workers organize courses on children’s growth and provide counselling to families if necessary. The parent-child corner supplies information and resources including books, journals, children books and toys. This corner helps parents acquire techniques of parent education and gain more knowledge about the running of the school, in order to make better use of resources. We provide an opportunity for teachers, parents and children to interact, share their stories, and establish amicable relationships, so as to help children grow.

Our school organises parent-child visits, excursions, seminars on parent education, meetings for parents, Parents’ Day, Integrated Carnival and Parent-child School Anniversary Celebration.
